

PVRI 2026 Dublin Event Report

Dublin Royal Convention Centre
27 January - 1 February 2026

99% rated the Congress as excellent or good

A word from our CEO

Thank you to everyone who joined us for PVRI 2026 in Dublin. It was a real joy to see you all there – to re-connect with old friends, and to meet many inspirational new members of our global PH community.

What a remarkable event it was! In PVRI's 20th year, this was our largest meeting ever, and as a community, we have so much to be proud of: world-class science, a determination to support and advance all our members, and a real spirit of belonging.

As CEO, I admit to a degree of bias when I say the 2026 meeting was remarkable, but I'm delighted to say that the evidence backs this up. The content in this report is taken directly from registration data, delegate feedback and post-event surveys.

As PVRI people we pride ourselves on our values: we are open, inclusive, easy to engage with, and we're ambitious. This report transparently shows the targets we are proud to be achieving but also areas in which we strive to improve.

Our team - Elvia, Katie, Debs, Catherine and Rachel – are here to help. Please reach out to us if you need to, we are always happy to jump on a call.

I sincerely hope that you'll join us at PVRI 2027 – as delegates, sponsors and exhibitors – and I look forward to seeing you in Bangkok.

Karen Osborn
PVRI CEO

Thank you to all the sponsors and exhibitors who joined us in Dublin. Your support made a huge difference to the success of the event.

We made a commitment to sustainability

This year, we delivered our first-ever congress without printed programmes, tote bags and giveaways. Instead, we used digital screens and a user-friendly mobile app that provided delegates with instant access to the programme, speaker details, and event updates, greatly reducing paper waste.

This milestone reflects our ongoing dedication to hosting events that are both innovative and environmentally responsible.

The conference and location were terrific. Everyone felt welcomed and there were many opportunities to connect and share questions and interests. The app worked very well and the reminder emails were very helpful in keeping the organisation!
